Kalaallit Nunaat

Earlier the indigenous population, the Inuit called the country Inuit Nunaat meaning country of human beings. Today the country is called Kalaallit Nunaat, which means »country of the Greenlanders«. Kalaallit Nunaat has been inhabited since around 2,500 B.C., when smaller groups immigrated from the northern Canada crossing the ice.

Kalaallit Nunaat is part of the Danish Realm called Rigsfællesskabet between Denmark, the Faeroe Islands and Greenland.

After a referendum Kalaallit Nunaat acquired Home Rule in 1979. Greenland has a national flag, issues its own stamps and forms a part of a Danish monetary and exchange union.

Fishing

Fishing is the lifeline of Greenland and the primary industry of the country. 87 per cent of all exports are derived from fish products including prawns and Greenland halibut. Greenland has the legislative competence for the fisheries sector. The fisheries for prawns and Greenland halibut are regulated by quota and license regulations decided on by the Cabinet on the basis of the biological advice to ensure a sustainable use of the natural resources.

Transportation

In Greenland roads do not connect towns and settlements. Hence passengers and supplies of goods are transported by sea or by air (by airplanes or helicopters). During wintertime dog sleds and snowmobiles are used for transportations too. The main gateway to Greenland is the former American military base Kangerlussuaq. From here traffic to all Greenland is being distributed – either by airplane or by helicopter.
